As I Recall . . .

This year at J. T. Barber is one that we shall long remember. It was filled with many gay and joyful moments as well as many unhappy events that we shall not quickly forget. The year 1962-63 will always be remembered by all of us as the year of graduation from high school.

Many activities will long be remembered after we leave the halls of Barber High. The clanging of the alarm clock which shocked us from our world of dreams to face another day of school will not be forgotten. Sometimes when the proverbial midnight oil ran a little low, we wonder if the earned "A" was really worth the effort, but believing that our success tomorrow depends upon the efforts we put forth today, we valued our time and ability to work. Days, weeks, and months of study pass rapidly and another year has gone.

In this book we have attempted to recall by word and picture the highlights of our 1962-63 school year in our Alma Mater. Long after graduation we shall be able to look upon its pages and recall the wonderful events and memories we had during our last year at Dear Ole J. T. Barber High.

Memories of Barber High

A Dedication

Best Friends of the Class of 1963

MRS. MARY J. HARPER

MR. JASPER G. HAYES

MRS. MARTHA S. FAISON

Mrs. Harper, Mr. Hayes, and Mrs. Faison have truly been the best friends of the class of 1963, in their positions as advisors during our high school career. Many endless hours of work have been put into their planning of activities and solving of problems during this period. Their understanding, patience and sincere wisdom are some of the many qualities that they have exhibited in their devotion to this responsibility. They will always be in the pleasant memories of the years spent at J. T. Barber High School.

To you, faithful advisors, we proudly dedicate this 1963

Administration

The administration can be likened to the hub of a great wheel. Around these administrators revolves the life of our school. Without them, we could never have the pleasant memories of Barber High School. They have spent many hours planning in order that we might enjoy the best advantages of our fruitful years in high school. The fondest memories of all are the rewards of hard won knowledge and inspiration that have been gained during the years that we have been a part of B. H. S. Through the plans and guidance of our worthy administrators, we shall go forth into the future making better citizens for our various communities.

The Administration of Whom

School Principal, Mr. W. M. Booker, extends a friendly hand to students, faculty, and visitors.

WALLACE M.

BOOKER

We are fortunate to have Mr. Booker as our principal. He is more than a principal; a friend to all who need one. He is always willing to give assistance to those who request it.

This man of varied talents uses his many years of experiences to promote an educational program matching our community needs.

MRS. R. M. ROUNDTREE

Mrs. R. M. Roundtree, Secretary to the Principal, constantly performs her duties with the interests of all students at heart. In spite of her crowded schedule, she gives her sincere consideration and understanding to the problems of the pupils.

New Bern City Board of Education

The Board of Education plays a significant part in the administration of the New Bern City Schools. No matter what the situation, the best for New Bern is utmost in the minds of the persons who constitute this school board.

The school board meets regularly each month. At these meetings the board members discuss, consider and act upon matter pertinent to the education of New Bern.

These men and women have contributed greatly to the educational facilities of our school.

H. J. McDONALD, Superintendent

A First in the History of Barber High

We were indeed fortunate and honored to have had as our guest, March 27, 1962, the honorable Terry Sanford, Governor of our fair state. The Governor and his entourage arrived on time and received an overwhelming ovation as they approached the auditorium and graced the stage. The Governor, after being presented to the student body by Mrs. Joe S. Johnson, greeted us cordially and expounded briefly on "Quality Education." His remarks were practical, inspiring, and challenging. On leaving the auditorium via the left aisle, he shook hands with many students, as well as teachers. This was a memorable day for Barber students, and we hope to have the pleasure of reading an account of this visit, of which we are very proud, in our N. C. History.

GOVERNOR TERRY SANFORD

Platform guests are seated as the Governor addresses the student body.

The Honorable Terry Sanford is escorted to the auditorium by Miss J. T. Barber and the president of the Student Council.

The Parent Teachers' Association Lends a Helping Hand

The Parent Teachers' Association, comprised of parents, teachers, and patrons of the community, is one of the most integral parts of the J. T. Barber High School Program. Its chief concern is to inform parents of the school's activities and to effect better use of the educational facilities available at Barber.

Its main financial drive this year has been to help the band secure its new uniforms that they have been diligently attempting to secure.

Academic

As the warning bell sounds in the morning, the halls of J. T. Barber High School are filled with the sounds of footsteps and hurried conversations, as the students rush to their first-period classes. This is the start of a busy day of classes, study hall periods, the five minute rush between classes, tests, quizzes, and all of the other things that make a typical day at B. H. S. Outstanding courses, tough courses, compulsory two hour semester tests, sitting in hard seats, and starting themes at the last minute are all memories of the student's classroom days.

A very popular opinion is that "a student's homework is never done" as the halls of B. H. S. are emptied and the students go home to burn the midnight oil.

English Department

English indeed brightens our lives. Our courses in the high school are aimed at helping the students to communicate most effectively so that they may improve their economic and social positions. The English Department puts stress on comprehensive reading, vocabulary development, and distinctive power in writing. The English course also instills a love of literature and and ability to derive pleasure from the great literary pieces of the world.

A Preservation of the Past
A Preparation for the Future in Social Sciences

In the Social Science Department, there are four divisions - Citizenship, World History, United States History, and Sociology. To understand problems under which we live today, we must familiarize ourselves with the past. In this department, the student can express his ideas with other classmates. Study of other and older civilizations often reveals similarities to problems current in our own day.

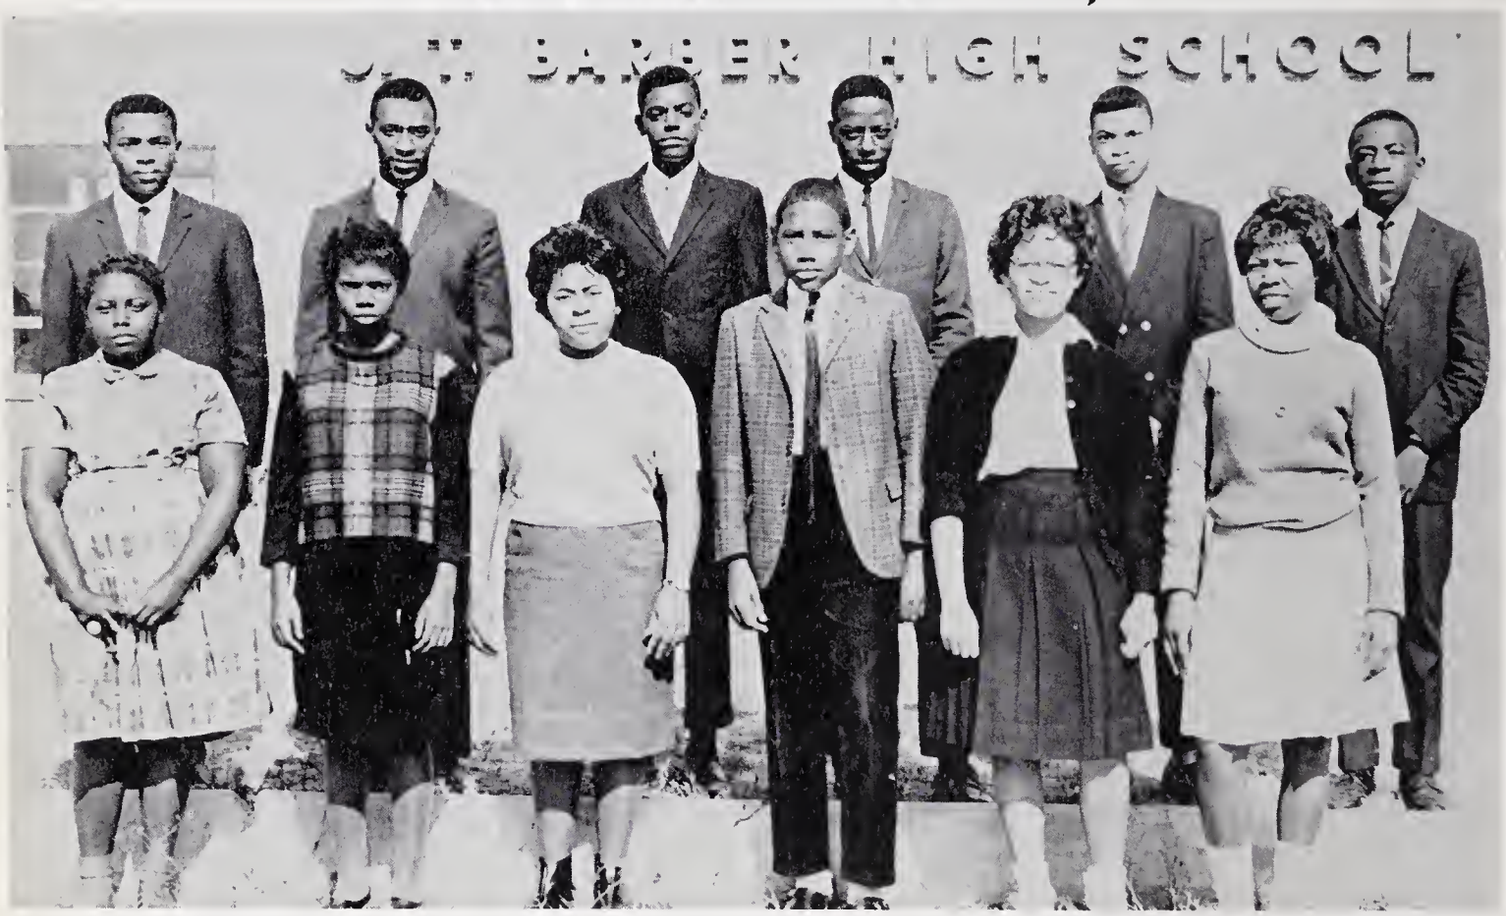
Activities

The many organizations of B. H. S. play a vital integral part in the life of a B. H. S. student. For the freshman, they are a method of getting acquainted with new classmates, as well as a chance to meet upperclassmen. The sophomores and the juniors begin to develop leadership qualities, as they participate in club activities. The senior's social life becomes more balanced and well-rounded, as he holds offices and learns how to lead fellow students.

As we graduate, we realize that the lessons we have learned through our extra-curricular activities will help us to become better citizens in our community.

Student Council Promotes Closer Relationship



The Student Council is the governing body at Barber High School. The Council promotes better relationship between faculty and student body through discipline, citizenship, and interclass cooperation.

It functions effectively in assisting orderly passing of students in halls and assemblies. These students were selected by classroom votes, representing homeroom sections.

Awards Nite

No man who continues to add something to the material, intellectual, and moral well being of the place in which he lives, is left long without proper award.

For the first time at J. T. Barber a special night was set up in commencement week to give special honor to the student achievers in various accomplishments of merits. The purposes of this night were (1) to take the issuing of awards to seniors out of the too heavily programmed final commencement exercises where it has been under emphasized due to the lack of time to place the proper emphasis upon the meritorious accomplishments; and (2) to inspire underclassmen to work for the recognition at their graduation. J. T. Barber's first Awards Night was quite successful in that it accomplished both purposes.

Speaker of this auspicious occasion was Miss E. M. Lewis, Curriculum Supervisor of the Craven County Schools.

Mrs. Marie Nowell presents scholarships to John Dillahunt, Katie Best, Jean Jones, and Mary Brown from the N. C. Joint Council on Health and Citizenship.

Homecoming — A Gala Affair

"Miss Coronation," Ethan Keyes; "Miss J. T. Barber," Linda Pelham; and Runner-Up, Nettie Williams are approaching the float for the Homecoming Parade.

Always the biggest, vigorous, happiest and generally the most wonderful occasion of the school, Homecoming for 1962 was just about the best. The observance covered much of three full days and the students joined in on the affair, beginning with the coronation ball on Wednesday night, and climaxing with the game on Friday night with Elizabeth City.

Coach Coates in one of his many pensive moments.

In the 1962 season, the warriors had their ups and downs. The season was not a success, but on the other hand it was not a complete disappointment.

Last year's graduation left many positions to be filled. Experience is an important factor with a team.

However, every true warrior fan knows that each player played with spirit, fortitude, and desire that has given the warriors a winning tradition.

Faces

The faces of B. H. S. are as many and as varied as one's imagination will allow. There is the face of the person who has just received something wonderful; he is happy and his joy spreads to those around him. There is the bereaved face of the one who through death has lost someone dear to him. There are the radiant faces that gaze at one another, as they stroll down the hall-the wonder and excitement of first love. There are faces reflecting anxiety over the coming exam, happiness over a good grade card, daydreams of last summer's romance, and the effervescence that comes from simply being alive and young. Yes, these are the faces seen every day at B. H. S. They are what make a school a living, breathing soul rather than only a brick and concrete structure.

As I Recall . . .

Advertisers

The heart of any town is its business district. It is the organ that pumps the life blood of the town that determines its prosperity or poverty. Indeed, it determines the actual life of the town. And thus it is with our yearbook. Our advertisers are the life organ of our book; without them, it would not have been possible. To these people, the doctors, salesmen, beauty operators, dentists and many, many others we owe our thanks.
